'SRJNA' WORKSHOP FOR SCIENCE TEACHERS

'SRJNA' presented a 'Learning by doing Workshop' held on 21st March at the Jr Bio Lab. It stressed on the use of real & virtual teaching aids to impart 5D classroom learning and smart online assessment platform with deep analytics for K-10 students, teachers and parents. Representative from 'SRJNA' foundation started with the Biology models and illustrated important systems of human body using a 'Torso model' which was compact and also multipurpose. Models of the human heart, lungs, ear etc were displayed to ensure experiential learning, which was very interesting and impactful. The uniqueness of the models is infact that they can be used for classes 6th to 12th. The second half of the workshop was devoted to the explanation of concepts of Physics, Momentum conservation, Centre of mass, effects of Electric current which were demonstrated using simple, handy and compact models. Understanding key concepts through these models can help in bridging a gap between a slow learner and a fast learner. Education can be simplified manifolds with the help of these models.

EMOTIONS IN A MATCHBOX.

Kriti Club organized two workshops with The Arts University Bournemouth from UK in the art room on Friday, 30th September 2016. In the first workshop, the students were taught to express the feelings through a matchbox and how to depict different matters through art in a small matchbox. The second workshop was on “How to make a portfolio?”. This was supplemented with a power point presentation giving various ideas on how to enhance and present your style. “Watching the joker’s antics in a show ,aroused in for Girija S5E such sympathetic emotions and as a resultant, an earnest urge to vent such feelings into some kind of shape and form. The painted match box was finally sealed in the way ‘JOKER’ conceals all the agonies and malodies of the living people in his stature and personality. ‘Macdonald French fries’ depicts that everyone has the right to be fed irrespective of his moral or financial obligations .Finally the ornamental ‘tissue box’ which conveys that tears rolling down with the intense feeling of helpless should be wiped .

TRIP TO CHENNAI AND PONDICHERRY

On the 18th of March, 2017, an excited group of Modernites took off from the Delhi Airport for Chennai. Students visited the Auroville Meditation camp at Pondicherry which was founded by 'The Mother' who laid down the Auroville charter consisting of four main ideas of meditation underpinning her vision for the Auroville Center. To meditate there one must be a willing servitor of the divine consciousness. Students visited the Marina Beach too, which is also the resting place of the Ex-Chief Minister of Tamil Nadu, Ms J Jayalalitha. The trip was an epitome of adventures, comprising of boat rides to a private beach and long morning walks.
