Dear Parents:

Welcome to Modern School Barakhamba, or MSB, as you will come to call it fondly.

It's the beginning of a new innings for your child—and for you as a family. I want to take this moment to re-assure you of the support and guidance that your child will get in the coming weeks from the teachers and the students of the School.

A year ago, I was in your shoes, watching with a combination of pride and anxiety as my child stood in a sea of white shirts in Shankar Lall hall. Those shirts were symbolic of the thought that the School had put into ensuring the young ones were looked after in the initial weeks.

Then came the other gestures—small but significant. The teachers escorted them to the buses, while senior students took them around campus to familiarize them with the facilities. Our young ones felt protected and comfortable, instead of feeling intimidated in the new environment. As days turned into weeks, our anxieties turned into appreciation as we saw our child gain in confidence and ability.

While the School looks after your child, allow me to offer the services of the PTA to you, dear parent, for any concerns and queries that you may have in the coming weeks. My team of executive members is available on email and phone for you to share your experiences and requests. Please make use of the contact details above to get in touch at any point.

I would also urge you to participate in the School activities and contribute in whatever way you can. Your time will be the most significant contribution that you will be able to make—so do spare some when you are called upon to do so.

Welcome to the new campus once again! We are in this journey together, so feel free to share your thoughts on what can make the experience better for our children and life easier for us.

Yours sincerely,

Pooja Kothari
